DOSE OF COUEISM IS DESCRIBED

No Privacy in Clinics Held By Famous Frenchman.

NEWS WRITER TELLS STORY

Method of Autosuggestion Expert Interestingly Told.

By MILTON BRONNER
Lima News Staff Correspondent

ANCY, France, (Special).—The outstanding thing in the auto-suggestion clinics of Emile Coue is that there is no privacy.

When you come here to Ancy to attend his meetings, you simply have to make up your mind to throw reserve into the dust-heap.

Coue shuns private appointments. He doesn't like to treat one patient alone. He prefers to have them all in one crowd where he can speak to all of them at one time.

There is here a point of crowd psychology. By getting us all together, he makes us act and react upon each other.

At any rate, Coue's clinic is a medical confession in which we confess our physical ills, not only for Monsieur Coue to hear but for all others present to hear.

Once in a while there is an exception. If some one is suffering from something that is a real embarrassment to discuss aloud, the patient is permitted to write down what is the matter with him or her and hand the slip to Coue.

Then he bids us close our eyes and keep them closed until he orders us to open them.

He assures us he will not put us to sleep.

There is to be no attempt at hypnotism.

He tells us that in each of us there is a conscious and an unconscious self. If we compare them, we find that while the conscious self has a very unreliable memory, the unconscious self has a really marvelous memory which registers, even without our will, the slightest events, the most unimportant facts of our lives. Furthermore, it is very credulous and accepts without reasoning what it is told.

MATTER OF BELIEF

As our unconscious self presides over the functioning of our organs by means of the brain, a queer thing happens. It believes a certain organ functions well or badly, that organ does really then function well or badly.

This unconscious self not only presides over the functions of our organism but over the accomplishment of all our actions.

This unconscious self is called imagination and it makes us act even in opposition to our will. In any conflict between will and imagination, the latter always wins.

CREATES AN APPETITE

"Now," says Coue, "tell yourself that all the words I am now going to pronounce will be fixed in your brain, will be printed, engraved, enunciated there; that they will always stay there; and that without your wishing it or knowing it, you yourself and your organism are going to obey."

"So now I say to you: Every day, three times a day, at your usual meal times, you will be hungry, you will eat with great pleasure and without overeating."

"You will masticate your food slowly so as to transform it into a kind of paste before you swallow it. In this way you will easily digest your food and so will feel no discomfort or pain of any kind in your stomach or intestines."

"You will as a consequence assimilate your food and your body will make use of it to manufacture blood, muscle, force, energy. In a word—life."

NO MEDICINE NEEDED

"Your body will throw off the waste material without medicines of any kind. Every night you will enjoy deep, tranquil slumber, without nightmares and you will wake up feeling cheerful and ready for your day's duties."

"Furthermore, if you are sometimes sad, or worry, or look at the black side of things, from henceforth you will stop it and, instead, you are going to be cheerful."

"You will no longer be impatient or ill tempered."

"You will be patient, you will always be master of yourself and things which formerly annoyed or worried you will do so no longer."

"I now add that your organs are functioning well. Your heart beats normally and your blood circulates as it should. Your stomach, intestines, lungs, liver, kidneys and bladder are all functioning properly."

NEED OF SELF-CONFIDENCE

"If up to the present time you have lacked confidence in yourself, this distrust will disappear and give place to confidence, based on this:

COLLAPSE OF REPARATIONS PARLEY EXPECTED TODAY

British and French Hopelessly Divided on Question.

PARIS DEMANDS REFUSED

Negotiations of Four Years to End in Failure.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(Associated Press).—At today's session of the premiers conference which adjourned at 4:30 o'clock for an hour, Premier Poincare of France read what amounted to a virtual ultimatum to the British to say yes or no to the French reparations proposition or else discontinue the conference, according to a British delegate.

PARIS—(Associated Press).—Collapse of the reparations conference, perhaps this afternoon, was generally foreseen today.

The British experts sat up half the night preparing the memorandum for distribution among the delegations but according to Excelsior the note was only an answer to Premier Poincare's objections to the British plan, announcing at the same time fresh British objections to the French proposal. There was no indication that Prime Minister Bonar Law intended to grant the sweeping concessions necessary to make possible the continuation of the discussion.

LENGTHY NEGOTIATIONS

Hence the general opinion was that the meeting this afternoon would result in the breakdown of the negotiations and the end of the long series of conferences which have sought unsuccessfully during the last four years to straighten out Europe's economic tangle.

There was, however, still an inclination among seasoned observers for similar concessions to hope, if not believe, that some eleventh hour solution might be found to avoid a rupture.

It was pointed out that the house did not seem to believe that a breakdown was imminent and that the market was firm without yesterday's session.

Little justification for an optimistic view was generally held and it was thought that the reparations question might be put by France into the hands of Marshal Poch who, after January 15, would proceed to execute judgment on the defaulting debtor. A suggestion that the terms of the French plan be submitted to Germany in the form of an ultimatum previous to any action in the Ruhr found little support.

APPEAL TO WASHINGTON

PARIS—(Associated Press).—Premier Poincare sent a cable message today to Ambassador Jusserand in Washington asking him to see Secretary of State Hughes in connection with the statement made to The Associated Press yesterday by Baron Von Rosenberg, the German foreign minister, on the German true proposal, which Premier Poincare contends showed that the principal object of the non-war pact imposed by Germany was to obtain the evacuation of the Rhineland without the payment of reparations.

Premier Poincare's message asked Ambassador Jusserand, in taking up the Rosenberg statement with Secretary Hughes, to make the following observations:

"First—That the object Germany had in view in making the proposition was manifestly 'to get the French to evacuate the left bank of fulfilled their reparations obligations, to fulfill their reparations obligations."

Second—That it is absurd to pretend that before entering the league of nations Germany was not subject to all the chances of the treaty of Versailles that bear Germany's signature and that she is free today to attack France."

Third—That the proposition for non-aggression against France, Italy and Great Britain would leave Germany entirely free to attack the smaller allies of France, notably Poland and Czechoslovakia, and even neutrals such as Denmark, to recover territory inhabited by Danes and Poles and to begin again to prepare her hegemony over Europe."

"We know very well right now," says the premier's cable message, "that the day Germany will want to make war it will be on the smaller nations that she will throw herself. Her plan of non-aggression would leave her free to do so and would prohibit us from going to their help."

FIVE RESCUED FROM FLAMING APARTMENT

CLEVELAND—Five persons, including an 80-year-old woman and a mother with a 10-month-old baby, were rescued early today when a smoldering fire in a West Side apartment house drove sixty tenants to the streets.

In another fire, Nellie, a shepherd dog, owned by P. H. Collins, by her barking in time to prevent a blaze originating in an overheated stove, from endangering his wife and a half dozen roomers. The total property loss was small.

CINCINNATI—Prosecutor Stanton of Cuyahoga county, conducted a tour of the Cincinnati pawnshop district and recovered a dinner ring stolen from Mrs. Stanton, valued at $750.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD

WOMEN CHARGED WITH PERJURY

Result of Evan Fontaine's Breach of Promise Suit.

NYACK, N. Y.—(Associated Press).—Miss Evan Burrows Fontaine, dancer, and her mother face indictment for perjury in connection with the dancer's $1,000,000 breach of promise suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney son of Harry Payne Whitney.

Justice Tompkins of the state supreme court in sustaining charges of fraud made by Whitney and vacating the judgment of the dancer's marriage to Sterling Adair of Waco, Texas, last night, ordered the district attorney of Rockland county to take all records in the suit before the grand jury with a view to indicting the dancer and her mother.

He also recommended that the New York Bar Association investigate the practice of Charles E. Felt, attorney of New York and Mr. Vernon, attorney of record for the dancer when she obtained her annulment of marriage in July 1920.

"A gross fraud has been perpetrated on the court," said the justice, and both perjury has been committed by the plaintiff and her mother."

SON PLAYS PART

Miss Fontaine obtained her annulment on the ground that she had lived with her husband three hours whereas the records showed that they had lived together for a year after their marriage. The justice said Adair died after his wife obtained the annulment and she subsequently she brought her suit against young Whitney.

A prominent position in the suit was occupied by her infant son, born December 14, 1920, whom she said she was going to name Cornelius Whitney. She was appearing in New York courts when she met young Whitney, known as "Sonny."

"That was in March, 1919, when he was a student at Yale."

The dancer said he proposed marriage and that she frequently visited him at Yale.

ACTION IN DAUGHTERY CASE IS POSTPONED

WASHINGTON—Disposition of the impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty was postponed today by the house judiciary committee pending action by the sub-committee appointed to report on what action should be taken against Representative Keller, author of the charges, following his withdrawal from the hearings.

The committee is understood to be framing a report in which Daugherty will be exonerated.

ARREST OF BARTLETT IS ECHO OF GAMBLING RAID

CAPT. C. A. CABLE DIES

NELSONVILLE.—Captain Charles A. Cable, 39, Civil War veteran and former state senator, died at his home here.

POLICE, FIRE FORCE WILL BE INCREASED

FULL PERSONNEL IS PLANNED

Financial Relief Is Afforded City Department.

NO NEED OF FURTHER CUT

Order Will Restore City Employees to Service.

Lima's police and fire departments will not be forced to curtail their operations in 1923, despite drastic cuts which the city commission declared necessary following the defeat of the two mill levy.

This became known Thursday when C. A. Bingham, city manager, ordered reinstatement of several policemen who were released when funds were found to be lacking.

At the same time it became known that the commission has increased the appropriations for the police and fire departments to within the funds appropriated for 1922, totaling $126,165 and the augmented appropriations for 1923 will be $114,289. This is an increase of $19,100 over the amount which the city believed at first it would have to run the two departments.

CUTS UNNECESSARY

This will make any cuts in the police and fire departments practically unnecessary, as city officials have pointed out that both departments operated well under their appropriations last year.

Money for this increase was obtained by taking a portion of the funds appropriated as first for street repair and transferring it to the safety fund. While the appropriation for street repair remains the same as before, the money will come from automobile licenses rather than from taxes.

This action released $22,000 in tax money for other departments.

It was pointed out that this money could be used for street lighting but the commission decided to turn a part of it over to the safety department and to assess the cost of the street lighting on the property owners.

Transfer of the funds, made at a closed meeting and not discussed at a public meeting will make it necessary to decrease the personnel of the fire and police departments to a great extent, it is believed, and will save the city from any increase in insurance rates.

At any rate, commissioners feel that the burgher of a city at the mercy of thugs and bandits and powerless to fight fires has disappeared for good.

FIREMEN TO RETURN

Present plans of the fire department, according to Chief Mack, call for the reinstatement of three men on January 15. This move will be made under instructions from City Manager Bingham and will put Henry Schuler, John Wolf and L. N. Berry in service. The only man laid off after January 15 will be Charles Beer.

Addition of the men will enable the five sub-stations to operate at full efficiency and will bring the department to its full fire fighting strength, it is asserted.

CONVENT BURNED

11th Catholic Institution in Canada to be Destroyed.

QUEBEC—(Associated Press).—The eleventh fire to sweep a Catholic institution in Canada within the last year was reported today. It razed the Good Shepherd convent of St. George de Beauce, about 30 miles from this city shortly after midnight.

There generally are about 200 children in the convent but owing to the midwinter holidays only half that number were in the building. They all escaped, taking shelter in the Presbytery and private houses.

The loss was estimated at $100,000.

FORMER POLICEMAN HANGS SELF IN JAIL

TOLLEDO—Lawrence Langton, 28, a former policeman, committed suicide by hanging in the county jail here today. Langton, who was being held on a larceny charge, tied his underwear around his neck, fastened it to a lug on the wall and then bent his knees and hung suspended until the insecure fastenings gave way and he fell to the floor, where a jail guard found him in a kneeling position with his head resting on his head.

ROAD WORK STOPS IN ALLEN-CO

Thirty Miles Paved in 1922, Total Now 45 Miles

Altogether no further paving work is being done on Allen county roads this winter, considerably construction is in progress elsewhere in the state, bulletins issued by the Ohio State Automobile association show.

Practically all of the paving in Allen county planned for 1922 was completed before the arrival of bad weather.

The exceptions include a section north from Beavertown to Bluffton and a concrete section inside the village of Elida.

Allen-co is commencing the new year with nearly 30 miles of paved roads more than one year ago. The total paved mileage in the county is now in excess of 45.

Three principal types of paving now used in the county are brick, asphalt and bituminous macadam, with a tar or oil top.

There is little or no concrete in use in Allen-co, although the type is rated as successful in many other counties. A section or so of this type laid during the coming year would enable the taxpayers to compare it with other materials as to worth, it is pointed out.

Efforts are being made to secure state and federal aid on 24 miles of road for 1923.

KRAUS CONVICTED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

POMEROY—The "woman Ponzi's" husband was here today, sentenced by Judge Edwards to three years in one of the speediest trials ever recorded in Meigs-co, George Kraus, 68, was found guilty late yesterday of embezzlement in connection with the mysterious financial operations of Mrs. Susan Kraus.

Mrs. Kraus is now serving a 20-year sentence in Marysville reformatory for forgery.

The jury convicted Kraus in 45 minutes.

He protested he knew nothing of his wife's alleged finances and that he signed certain instruments for her in faith as he was nearly blind and unable to see what he was signing.

CRIME ENACTED BY HEAD OF HOUSE

Indiana Man Kills Wife, Three Children and Self.

BODIES FOUND IN HOME

Tragedy Believed Result of Temporary Insanity.

MUNCIE, Ind.—(Associated Press).—William Miller, 30, today shot and killed his wife and their three children and then committed suicide, police officials said. The crime was discovered by neighbors who broke into the house when they failed to see any of the family.

According to Coroner F. J. Downing, who arrived shortly after the crime was discovered, the bodies were still warm. Mrs. Miller's body was found in bed and in her arms was found the body of her 11-months-old child. The bodies of the other children were found on the floor as was that of Miller.

Mrs. Miller and the children were in their night attire and Miller was partly clothed. A revolver was found on the floor near Miller's body.

According to officers there were no signs of a struggle and the doors and windows were locked from the inside.

Miller, neighbors said, talked of a man who had been following him for several days but the theory was advanced by Coroner Downing that Miller became temporarily insane and shot his family. Unless some new evidence was found, the coroner said, he would return a verdict that Mrs. Miller and her three children, Evelyn 5, William 3 and Robert 11 months, had been murdered by Miller who then committed suicide.

Relatives of Miller insist Miller never had shown any signs of insanity and are inclined to doubt the coroner's belief.

PROBERS NAMED IN TRUBEY CASE

Former Grievance Committee of Bar Body Picked.

Former members of the Allen-co Bar association grievance committee will continue as members of a court committee appointed by Judge Fred C. Becker Thursday to investigate charges against R. R. Trubey and report to the court.

The members are George H. Quail, Ira R. Longworth and James J. Woodcock. The same committee, while acting for the bar association, recommended Trubey's expulsion from the body on findings made in connection with matters in connection with H. G. Russell and Sadie Morphis.

Trubey has once been exonerated on the portion of the charges relating to an alleged attempt to blackmail H. G. Russell by virtue of his office as assistant prosecuting attorney.

The committee appointed by the court in the previous investigation included W. H. Leets chairman, H. O. Bentley, D. C. Henderson and Minor Atmure.

All of the charges brought against Trubey were originally made by Ben F. Welty, former member of congress. Welty has represented H. G. Russell in court litigation, growing out of controversies between various Lima sign companies over financial matters.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

Meetings of the committee will commence at once. As the same committee investigated before reporting to the bar association, it was predicted Thursday that little or no additional testimony will be taken.

Members of the committee declined to state Thursday whether or not additional charges will be preferred against Trubey.

When the bar association failed to act Tuesday, Trubey filed charges against himself, making the matter a public affair, forcing a trial.

Trubey, who is made a target for the Welty charges, expressed satisfaction over the court's appointment.

"I believe that this committee will press the matter," he said, "and my own desire is that they do so immediately so that the public hearing in the matter can proceed at once."

BATTLE OVER DRY RULING IS ON

12 Cases Involving Ship's Rum Rights Before Highest Court

TEST OF DAUGHTERY EDICT

Argument Begun By Notable Array Of Counsel

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The ten cases brought by foreign steamship companies and the two brought by American operators to contest the construction placed by Attorney General Daugherty upon the prohibition amendment and enforcement act were argued today in the supreme court under the ruling for which the ship would be prohibited from entering American waters with intoxicating liquors in their hold, and American ships would be prohibited from having such liquor aboard at any place. The case came before the court on an appeal from Federal Judge Hand in New York in upholding the attorney general.

The argument will continue tomorrow with a notable array of counsel, including former Attorney General Wickersham, for the foreign steamship companies, Fred L. Carr, George A. Ellis and Frederick H. Stokes for the United American Lines and John M. Woolsey, Cletus Keating, J. Parker Kirtland and J. A. Campbell for the International Mercantile Marine Company. The government is represented by Solicitor General Peck, Assistant Attorney General Mabel W. Wilbrandt and Special Assistant Wheat.

Expressing the belief "that the use of liquor did more than any other one thing to debauch and degrade our manhood and womanhood," and that "the material hardship might be the direct or indirect result of prohibition, it should count against it in view of the evils to be removed and the blessings to follow," the government attorneys insist that it was the purpose of the prohibition amendment to make the United States absolutely dry.

VIEWS OF COUNSEL. Counsel on both sides admit that congress can prohibit foreign steamships from bringing intoxicating liquor into American ports, but while counsel for the government insist that the court should interpret present laws as having that effect, Mr. Wickersham asserts that had congress intended to bar liquor from the sea stores of foreign vessels it would have been explicit to that effect.

The construction urged by the government, if enforced, he contends, would result in the search of all foreign ships upon reaching American ports, warships and merchantmen alike, and the confiscation of those vessels upon which intoxicating liquor was found. He would also, he argued, oblige the government to stop the supply of wines and liquors to the foreign embassies, legations and consulates, in this country and foreign ships forced by stress of weather to enter American ports would be forfeited if liquor was found aboard.

POSITION OF FOREIGN SHIPS. The foreign steamship companies are not properly before the court, the government insists, and have other relief open to them under the law, if the interpretation of the attorney general is not sound.

All ships, foreign and American, the government insists have been forbidden to bring wines and intoxicating liquors into this country as a part of their cargoes. There being no legal distinction between cargoes and sea stores, the government argues, it follows that congress did not intend to exempt sea stores from the operation of the prohibition laws.

In the American steamship cases the controversy centers largely upon the proper construction to be given the word "territory" as used by congress in extending the prohibition act to "territory" subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. The government contends that the nation's "territory" extends wherever the United States has "jurisdiction" and that having "jurisdiction" over American vessels on the high seas and in foreign ports, the prohibition law automatically applies to them.

Counsel for the American steamship companies combat such a construction, insisting that under decision of the courts the "territory" of the United States is "land" over which dominion or sovereignty has been acquired and which can be admitted into the Union as a state. A ship is not "territory" in the sense, they argue, nor in the sense in which the word is employed in the constitution.

The government attorneys argue that the language of the prohibition statutes is broad enough to give complete effect to the policy declared in the amendment wherever the jurisdiction of the United States extends and should be given that effect. Admitting that such a construction may cause loss and confusion, the government contends that the intent of the statutes is to upset established customs. While it would be deplorable "should enforcement of the attorney general's ruling interfere with development of overseas commerce," the government says, the "mischievous" of drinking intoxicating liquors must be cut up "by the roots" and the courts "can listen only to the mandates of law" and "read that path which is marked out by duty."

MEETING POSTPONED. Illness of H. Jerome Hirst, vice president of the Direct Oxidation Corporation, will make it impossible for him to meet with the city commission Thursday afternoon as he had planned. The meeting at which the oxidation method of sewage disposal is to be explained, will be held January 11, C. A. Bligham, city manager, said Thursday.

MAN FALLS, BREAKS LEG. DeLoss Green, 519 W. High-st., employee of the National Supply Co. on E. Pearl-st., fell Thursday while cutting a piece of pipe and sustained a fracture of his left leg above the knee. He was removed to St. Rita's hospital.

HAVANA FIVE, 3c CIGAR.

STOIFF MURDER STILL OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF PROBORS ON THIRD DAY

With many more witnesses to testify, the Allen-co grand jury commenced its third day of labor Thursday.

Hearing of further testimony in the killing of Bayen Stoiff, Bulgarian, was scheduled for the morning session. A portion of the witnesses were excused Wednesday, but were recalled for Thursday.

The dramatic scene, when three Blackhand gunmen entered the Little Pine-st. grocery, made their demand for money and shot Stoiff to death, will be re-enacted before the jury by the principal witnesses.

Entrance of the gunmen, the words, actions and details of the shooting will be related.

Mrs. Bertha Phillips, girl-wife of Alva Phillips, accused of attempted criminal assault on Zelma Lippincott, 12, told her story to the jury Thursday.

She hopes to clear her mate of blame in the matter. Since his incarceration she has been supporting herself by working in an artificial flower factory.

THOMPSON HEADS COUNTY BOARD

Delayed Commission is Received by A. J. Gray.

John W. Thompson, of Marion-twp, was elected to succeed Andrew J. Gray, Perry-twp, as president of the board of Allen-co commissioners, at an organization meeting held Thursday.

Gray relieves as head of the board after 16 months service. Thompson was elected to serve until the third Monday in September.

A decision of the Ohio supreme court, in granting Herman W. Keavy, Green-co, a writ of mandamus against the secretary of state ordering him to issue a commission, removed the last obstruction halting organization of the board.

Andrew J. Gray, elected for a four year term in November, commenced serving Thursday. His commission, signed by Secretary Smith, reached him prior to the meeting of the board.

The shift from Gray to Thompson as head of the board will not involve any change in the policies and program of the county commissioners, it is announced.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE IS PLANNED BY STUDENTS

Students of Jefferson high school, Delphos, will meet Thursday night and select managers for a class basketball league which will compete, beginning January 12, for the championship of the school.

The series will wind up March 2 with the faculty playing the student champion. The schedule is as follows:

January 12—Juniors vs. seniors and freshmen vs. sophomores.
January 26—Freshmen vs. juniors and seniors vs. sophomores.
February 9—Juniors vs. sophomores, seniors vs. freshmen.
February 16—Winners vs. winners for championship.

March 2—Faculty vs. champions. Eugene Gorrell, athletic director of the school, will referee all boys' games. Miss Williams will be in charge of all girls' games, which will be played simultaneously with the boys' schedule.

HARPER'S ARREST MAY BE FIRST FOR NEW SHERIFF

Clyde Harper, whose conviction on a charge of picking the pockets of William Pence, Sidney, was sustained by the Ohio supreme court, may be the first man to be arrested by Sheriff Harvey Crosson, since assuming office.

Harper is on bond. Orders are to be issued soon to bring him in. Prosecuting attorney E. T. Lippincott declared Thursday.

Three days will be allowed for filing an appeal in the case of Alvin Becker former treasurer of Shawan-park. He may carry the case to the supreme court.

Becker was convicted on a charge of embezzling $5,000 township funds. A jury before Judge Fred C. Becker found him guilty and an indeterminate sentence was imposed. Becker carried the case to appeals court on error.

INSPECTOR EXPECTED TO APPROVE SWIMMING POOL

Report of F. D. Stewart, Ohio health department inspector, on the new swimming pool at Delphos city park, accompanied by the Kiwanis club, park committee and health commissioner N. E. Brundage, Stewart made a visit to the park Wednesday and inspected the pool.

Stewart intimated that all state laws have been complied with in erecting the swimming pool.

PRICE UNSEATED BY DECISION

Leader in Attack on Hospital Head is Out.

SUCCESSOR FAVORS FILES

Lippincott and Gray Deny Statements Imputed.

Decision of the Ohio supreme court, forcing the secretary of state to issue commissions to county commissioners elected November 7, will unseat L. A. Price as a member of the Van Wert-co board.

His passing from office will make one less vote on the joint board against Dr. C. A. Files, superintendent of the District Tuberculosis hospital, when the test comes January 7.

Charles Allen, of Ridge-twp, who succeeds Price, is said to be favorable toward Files. He is a near relative of J. W. Thompson, president of the Allen-co board.

Legality of the suspension of the board, has never been officially challenged. W. W. Craig, president of the joint body declared Thursday.

GAVE NO OPINION. "I have never asked for an opinion," he said, "and no one has ever given me one. The joint board has the power to appoint the trustees and certainly has power to remove them, charges or no charges."

Prosecuting attorney Eugene T. Lippincott, who has been quoted as having pronounced the action illegal, declared he is not the counsel for the board; only one-fifth of it.

"Any opinion I may have expressed, therefore is personal," he asserted. "I believe, however, that action may be open to questioning."

Members of the joint board are to meet Tuesday to hear the reading of testimony assembled by an investigating committee.

The trustees are scheduled to hold their annual meeting on the same day.

TWO NEW MEMBERS TO BE NAMED FOR HEALTH BOARD

Appointment of two members of the Delphos board of health will not be made until after the re-organization meeting Monday night, Mayor J. K. Williams said Thursday.

M. H. Westrich will retire as a member of the board. C. C. Laing, appointed last year, has indicated that his resignation will be filed soon, according to Williams. The resignation will be received before an appointment is made, and both will probably be made at the same time, according to the mayor.

The board is complete with the mayor, health commissioner N. E. Brundage, Joseph Beckman, Bert Johnson, C. Allinger and the two retiring members.

Steps to hire a health commissioner for the ensuing year will be taken Monday night, according to Williams, who is president of the board. He intimated Thursday that the method of accepting bids for the job will be done away with this year. Bids will probably be re-opened without other action being taken, Williams declared.

Health program for 1923 will be mapped out at the meeting.

DISTRICT HEALTHERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Four members of the district health board for Allen-co attended the annual meeting, held at Memorial Hall, De R. H. Hugheson of Bluffton, J. C. Gilder of Richmond-twp, R. H. Rex of Bath-twp and A. J. Gray, Lima.

Annual report was submitted by Mrs. Anna Mae Pechter, public health nurse. She traveled nearly $5,000 miles during the past year.

ELIOTT FUNERAL FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Elliott, who died Wednesday from pneumonia, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the late residence, 678 N. West-st., in charge of Rev. David Byerly of Bath-twp. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

He was riding in a rocking chair on top of a load of fodder when he lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He was unconscious for a time. Examination showed a number of severe bruises and lacerated teeth.

RAILROAD DAMAGES BRIDGE

80 ARE KILLED IN CRASH

Bridge Collapses With Throng at Kelso, Wash.

150 PLUNGED INTO RIVER

Search for Bodies of Victims is Begun.

KELSO, Wash. — (United Press) — Authorities in charge of rescue work today declared the dead as a result of the collapse of the Kelso bridge across the Cowlitz river: here may run as high as 80.

All sources were of the opinion, however, that it will be impossible to establish definitely how many persons lost their lives, owing to the impossibility of determining the exact number on the bridge when the cables snapped and the great structure, with its human freight, went hurtling into the turbulent, muddy river waters.

Witnesses agreed that the number on the bridge was approximately 150, although some thought higher. Forty are known to have been rescued.

An additional number rushed to safety from the bridge approaches when the first warning came that the bridge was tottering.

Eleven names are listed as "known to be missing." One man died in a hospital today.

On a basis of 150 persons having been on the bridge, authorities believed that these figures accounted for all but approximately 80.

Most of the persons on the bridge when the collapse came were workers, many of them foreigners engaged in constructing a new town bridge named Longview across the river from Kelso. They were employees of Long-Bell Lumber camp of Kansas City.

The bridge crashed without warning in the midst of a traffic jam caused by a stalled motor car as workers on the new Longview Hotel were returning to their homes. One of the supporting cables snapped and a wild scramble for safety followed. The entire structure swayed. The east tower collapsed and plunged against the steel bridge under construction alongside, injuring several workmen. Another tower then plunged into the stream. The long middle span and the back knive draw buckled and turned hurling the pedestrians and automobiles into the rushing waters.

Thrilling rescues and heroic struggles for life followed while scores of friends and relatives stood on the banks powerless to help.

BODIES IN WRECKAGE. Many bodies were believed tangled in the wreckage thru which the water rushed like a mill race. Efforts to check the dead were blocked, as many of the persons on the bridge came from neighboring towns or were newly arrived for work on the Longview Hotel or the new steel bridge.

The searchlight of the steamer Pomeau aided in illuminating the strange scene. Among the watchers for bodies along the river banks were pitiful groups, relatives of the victims.

A number of corpses are believed entangled in the timbers of the wreckage. Some living persons may be found clinging to the debris. Searchers lashed to the beams by ropes, worked cautiously above the swiftly running river, hunting for any one who might be breathing.

DRAINING RIVER. At dawn river steamers began dragging the stream for bodies. The water was so high and swift, however, that the steamers were handicapped.

One of the men rescued gave the name of Fortune. He said he was driving an automobile with six other persons in it when the bridge collapsed.

He saved himself by clinging to the debris. Kelso spent a night of horror with every home in black darkness following failure of the electric lighting system.

AUTOS IN CRASH. KELSO, Wash. — (Associated Press) — Deputy Coroner William D. Van Note, who saw the bridge crash here, estimated this morning that 20 to 25 bodies and 15 to 18 automobiles were in the river.

WIFE COUNTERS IN SUIT. Care and custody of Eileen, her 20 months babe, is demanded by Martha Frickenstein, in a cross petition filed in common pleas court Thursday, countering a divorce action instituted by Harvey Frickenstein. She also demands alimony and support money.

KENTON FINANCES FIXED. KENTON — This city will be operated at a net expense of $45,171.50 for the next six months, if it stays within the limits of expenditures allowed by city council. The appropriation is approximately $3,000 more than was required for the last six months period ending December 31.

UNION PACIFIC PLACES ORDER WITH LOCOMOTIVE WORKS FOR 37 ENGINES

An order for 37 heavy duty locomotives for the Union Pacific Railroad was announced by L. A. Larsen of the Lima Locomotive Works Thursday. The deal was closed late Wednesday in New York City.

Previous orders received and on the books were expected to keep the plant operating at capacity until July. The new order, entailing the construction of $2,000,000 worth of equipment, should provide work for nearly two months more.

Additions to the plant are rapidly being completed, several of the new plants being in operation at the present time, it is announced. As other units are completed, operations will be increased and more workmen added to the force, officers say.

PRECAUTION IS TAKEN TO PREVENT FROZEN HYDRANTS

Lima fire department will not be hampered this winter due to frozen water plugs.

This statement was made Thursday morning by Chief Mack in commenting on the cooperation of the water works department.

The valves on the fire plugs are located at the base of the hydrants, and the water above the valves is pumped out of the plugs every day by water works department men.

This keeps the plugs free of water above the frost line and prevents the hydrants from freezing.

After every fire, when it is necessary to turn on the water, firemen drain the plugs, Chief Mack said.

FINES TOTAL $5,000. Fines assessed by Mayor W. H. Swift, St. Marys, during 1922 amounted to $5,000, most of which was against bootleggers. Some of the fines are being paid on the installment plan.

BUILDING COST TO PASS MILLION

Prospect For 1923 Is 25 to 50 Per Cent Over 1922

FORECAST BY REALTY HEAD

Contracts Assure Busy Spring And Summer In Lima

Value of new construction in this city during the year 1922 will total far more than $1,000,000, in the opinion of W. R. Mummaugh, president of the Lima Real Estate board. This forecast is based on actual facts known to the head of the realty organization, from contact with contractors, material men, architects and loan concerns, which have been called upon to finance factory, business block and home enterprises.

"The record for the year 1922 in new construction and rebuilding in Lima somewhere around $1,000,000," Mummaugh said, "and it is confidently expected that the year 1923 will see an even greater amount of work accomplished."

Mummaugh puts the increase for this year over last at from 25 to 50 per cent. Building operations have not been stopped by winter weather. Contractors are crowding their work along, to clear the way for a monster campaign to be opened early in the spring. Contracts already awarded for new structures and rebuilding of others next spring and summer assure a busy season Mummaugh asserts.

AFFECTS ALL SECTIONS
The best part of it, the realty board head added, is that the building campaign is extending to all parts of the city. No particular section stands out pre-eminent in this respect.

Real estate dealers, contractors, material men and architects view with no small amount of optimism and satisfaction the outlook for 1923. While property values in Lima remained steady for the most part during the period of depression, the tendency is now strongly upward.

Mummaugh is authority for the statement that there have been more real estate deals in this city during the past 60 days than in a similar period in several years. Many lots have been purchased as sites for new and modern homes, and all lines of business that contribute to building operations are feeling the effect of the tendency to progress.

Instruction commenced January 2 at the high school farm shop, with A. E. Shanklin, Vaughnsville, acting as instructor.

Tractors are to be taken down and assembled and engine work studied. Tractors are a necessity on most farms of today and in addition to other accomplishments, the farmer must be a mechanic to keep the engines going.

This school will continue 15 days.

WILL SAIL FEB. 10
CLEVELAND—Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president emeritus of Western Reserve University here, will sail for South America February 10. He left here Christmas "Study" is the object of the trip, according to Dr. Thwing. He expects to visit Colombia, Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, and Argentina and probably pass over the Andes and visit Chile.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It is cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—without costing more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated component of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

—BY RAFAEL SABATINI—

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Plans for escape from Barbados are made by PETER BLOOD and fellow conspirators who have become slaves in Barbados after conviction on charges of treason against King James of England.

COLONEL BISHOP, owner of Peter Blood, cruelly flogs JEREMY PITT, another of his slaves, for failing to reveal information before the escape can be made. A Spanish ship captures the town. Blood saves, from probable death by a Spaniard, a girl friend of Arabella Bishop, niece of the colonel. An interesting friendship has been formed by Blood and Arabella.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
At the sound of her voice, the girl Mr. Blood had rescued peered up from the gloom.

"Arabella!" she called. "It is I, Mary Trill."

After a brief pause the door opened wide. Beyond it in the wide hall stood Miss Arabella, a slim, virginal figure in white mysteriously revealed in the gleam of a single candle which she carried.

Mr. Blood strode in followed by his distraught companion, who, falling upon Arabella's slender bosom, surrendered herself to a passion of tears. But he waited no time.

"Whom have you here with you? What servants?" he demanded sharply.

The only male was James, an old negro groom.

"The very man," said Blood. "Bid him get out horses. Then away with you to Speightstown, or even farther north, where you will be safe. Here you are in dreadful danger."

The horses came at last—four of them, for in addition to James who was to act as her guide, Miss Bishop had her woman, who was not to be left behind.

Mr. Blood lifted the slight weight of Mary Trill to her horse, then turned to say goodbye to Miss Bishop, who was already mounted.

The last he heard of them was Mary Trill's childlike voice calling back on a quavering note—

"I shall never forget what you did, Mr. Blood. I shall never forget."

CHAPTER IX
The Rebels' Convict

There were, when the purple gloom of the tropical night descended upon the Caribbean, not more than ten men on guard aboard the Cinco Liagas. The Spanish gunner and his crew—who had so nobly done their duty and insured the easy victor of the day—were feasting on the gun-deck upon the wine and the fresh meats fetched out to them from shore. Above, two sentinels only kept vigil, at stem and stern. Two whistles under cover of the darkness came gliding from the wharf, with well-remembered rowlock, to bring up in silence under the great ship's quarter.

From the stern gallery still hung the ladder by which Don Diego had descended to the boat that had taken him ashore. The sentry on guard in the stern, coming presently round the gallery, was suddenly confronted by the black shadow of a man standing before him at the end of the ladder.

The wooden tuffall was a low one, and the Spaniard was taken completely by surprise. Save for the splash he made as he struck the water, narrowly missing one of the crowded boats that waited under the counter, no sound announced his misadventure.

"Whist!" hissed Mr. Blood to his waiting rebels-con. "Come on, now, and without noise."

Within five minutes they had swarmed aboard, the entire twenty of them overflowing from that narrow gallery and crouching on the quarter-deck.

Light showed ahead. For the great lantern in the prison saw the black figure of the other sentry, pacing on the forecastle.

Crouching low, they glided, noiseless as shadows, to the quarter-deck rail, and thence slipped without sound down into the waist. Two-thirds of them were armed with muskets, some of which they had found in the overboarder's boxes, and others supplied from the secret hoard that Mr. Blood had so laboriously assembled against the day of escape. The remainder were equipped with knives and cutlasses.

Mr. Blood, himself, crept forward with two companions, leaving the others in the charge of that faithful Hagthorpe whose sometime commission in the King's Navy gave him the best title to that office.

Mr. Blood's absence was brief. When he rejoined his comrades there was no watch above the Spaniard's decks. When their quarters were invaded and they found them—sees surrounded by a score of wild, hair-shirted men, the Spaniards could not believe their eyes. And then, from out of this uncouth pack of savages that beset them, stepped a slim, tall fellow with light-blue eyes in a tawny face. He addressed them in the purest Castilian.

"You will save yourselves pain and trouble by regarding yourselves my prisoners, and suffering yourselves to be quietly bestowed out of harm's way."

Thenceupon those gentlemen of Spain were induced without further trouble beyond a musket prod or two to drop thru a scuttle to the deck below.

It was soon after sunrise that the rebel-convict who paced the quarter-deck in Spanish corslet and headpiece, a Spanish musket on his shoulder, announced the approach of a boat. It was Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez coming aboard with four great treasure-chests, containing each twenty-five thousand pieces of eight, the ransom delivered to him at dawn by Governor Stead. He was accompanied by his son, Don Estaban, and by six men who took the oars.

Don Diego mounted the ladder and stepped upon the deck alone, and entirely unsuspecting.

Before he could even look round, and survey this guard drawn up to receive him, a tap over the head with a capitan bar efficiently handled by Hagthorpe put him to sleep without the least fuss.

He was carried away to his cabin, whilst the treasure-chests, handled by the men he had left in the boat, were being hauled to the deck. That being satisfactorily accomplished, Don Estaban and the fellows who had manned the boat came up the ladder, one by one, to be handled with the same quiet efficiency.

With Colonel Bishop at their head, and gout-ridden Governor Stead sitting on the ruins of a wall beside him, the survivors glumly watched the departure of the eight boats containing the weary Spanish ruffians who had glutted themselves with rapine, murder, and violence unspeakable.

The boats pulled away from the shore, with their loads of laughing jeering Spaniards. They had come midway between the wharf and the ship, when suddenly the air was shaken by the boom of a gun.

They paused at their oars, astounded into silence for a moment. Then speech burst from them like an explosion. They were still cursing when a second shot came to crumple one of the boats into splinters, flinging its crew, dead and living into the water.

But if it silenced these, it gave tongue, still more angry, vehement, and bewildered to the crews of the other seven boats.

Plung into their middle came a third shot, smashing a second boat with fearful execution. Whilst they discussed and fumed and cursed two more shots came over the water to account for yet a third of their boats.

After the fourth shot, with one accord they went about, or attempted to do so, for before they had accomplished it two more of their boats had been sunk.

The three boats that remained headed back for the wharf at speed. If the Spaniards understood nothing of this, the forlorn islanders ashore understood still less. They saw the flag of Spain come down from the main-mast of the Cinco Liagas, and the flag of England soar to its empty place.

That the Cinco Liagas was now in friendly hands could no longer be doubted after the proofs it had given. But who, the people of Bridgetown asked one another, were the men in possession of her, and whence had they come? It remained to ascertain the precise identity of these mysterious saviors, and do them fitting honor.

Upon this errand—Governor Stead's condition not permitting him to go in person—went Colonel Bishop as the Governor's deputy, attended by two officers.

Lunged on either side, althwart the deck, stood a score of men in two well-ordered files, with breasts and backs of steel polished Spanish morions on their heads, overshadowing their faces, and muskets ordered at their sides.

Colonel Bishop could not be expected to recognize at a glance in these ragged, unkempt scarecrows that but yesterday had been toiling in his plantations. Still less could he be expected to recognize at once the courtly gentleman who advanced to greet him—a lean, graceful gentleman, dressed in the Spanish fashion, all in black with silver lace, a gold-hilted sword dangling beside him from a gold embroidered baldric, a broad castor with a sweeping plume set above carefully curled ringlets, of deepest black.

"He welcome aboard the Cinco Liagas, Colonel, darling," a voice vaguely familiar addressed the planter. "We've made the best of the Spaniard's wardrobe in honor of this visit, tho' it was scarcely yourself we had dared hope to expect. You find yourself among friends—old friends of yours, all."

The Colonel stared in stupefaction.

"Peter Blood!" It was an ejaculation of amazement. Satisfaction followed swiftly. "Was it you, then?"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Off to Help Santa

—BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON—

"Why, hello there, kiddies," cried Santa, giving each of them a hearty kiss and hug.

As Christmas was coming and Santa Claus, as usual, was as busy as a tailor or a luster—the Fairy Queen sent for the twins to help him.

The Green Wizard in the tree-tops could spare them now, as so many Forest and Meadow folk had gone to Dreamland for the winter, he had scarcely a thing to do.

So off went the Twins toward the North Pole.

No, Name, and Nick did not have to go to Brownland to help the little Brownies dig the golden glitter for the tree-tops as they had done once before. This time they were to help the toy-maker, Santa Claus' chief assistant.

The toy-maker lived in a large house near the North Pole and thither went Nancy and Nick in their Green Shoes.

"Tap, tap, tap," they tapped on his big front door with the great brass knocker.

Instantly the door swung open and there stood not only the toy-maker, but Santa himself!

"Why, hello there, kiddies," cried

Santa, giving each of them a hearty kiss and hug. "I declare if you aren't just in time! Mr. Toy Maker and I were talking about the notes. The chimney notes, you know, that the children write. We can't get to work on the toys very well until we know about how many dolls are wanted this year. Also horns, drums, blocks, skates, books, woolly lambs, sleds, building blocks, radio sets, pogo-sticks, electric trains, express wagons, kiddy cars, jumping-jacks, tops, music-boxes and what not."

Santa Claus stopped, all out of breath. "There now," he went on. "You two Twins go and get all the notes out of the chimneys and bring them to us so we can begin work at once."

"But be careful, Tweedknose, the naughty gnome, will get there first, if you are not careful, and if he does he'll steal the notes, because he doesn't want the children to have any Christmas if he can help it."

The Lima News

AND TIMES-DEMOCRAT
12 E. LAUGH, Managing Editor
MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Entered at Lima, O., as second class mail matter. By mail where there is no Lima carrier. One year $3.00, six months $2.00, one month 50c.

POSTOFFICE PROSPECT

LIMA has once more become a member of "the pork barrel clan." In other words, Postmaster General Hubert Work and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, have recommended to congress an appropriation of $425,000 for a new post-office in Lima.

That doesn't mean that a new federal building is to be erected in this city in one year or even in two years. The chances are that it will require from four to six years, even though the recommendation should be adopted and things hustled along as rapidly as it is possible for government agencies to do it.

In the light of past experiences, it is doubtful if it means anything at all, save as a jolly. The same thing has been worked for to these many years and the same old bait still catches 'em. When it is considered that the recommendations carry appropriations in larger amounts for Akron, Canton and Springfield and that new postoffices are urged in 136 other cities in the country in the same report, it is easy to see how small are the chances for even a few to be served inside of a several year period.

Due to the further fact that "pork barrel lists" are generally held up until near the close of the term by a congress action on the Lima recommendation is not expected soon, despite the fact that it has been the policy of the administration to build post-offices where needed, whether congress approved or not. Since the Lima recommendation has been put up to congress, it affords an opportunity for our Representative John L. Cable to get a concrete test of his ability as a legislative manipulator and to determine his standing with his fellow solons.

Lima certainly does need a new and more commodious federal building and everyone will hope that something comes of the official recommendation, quickly. However, it is good advice for no one to build their hopes too strong. Doubtless it means a continuance of a "waiting game," but all Lima will trust that this time an exception to the general rule will be seen.

RETURNING PROSPERITY

EVEN the most pessimistic individual is forced to admit, in the face of existing facts, that prosperity, so long absent from the business life of America, which came as an aftermath of the war, is slowly but none the less certainly returning.

Already favored with orders for the building of locomotives which insured the continued operation of the plant of the Lima Locomotive Works for many months, under plans intended to make for increased production, another big commission has been received.

This time it is the Union Pacific Railroad which has dropped into the order box of the loco plant directions for the building of 37 freight locomotives. It is taken as an indication that the railroads are recuperating; that they are finding their way back to normal.

This evidence is not confined alone to the Union Pacific, but is shared in by many other great rail systems that were able to weather the storm of adverse business conditions for several years. Increased orders for the Locomotive Works mean more work employed in this as well as other plants in Lima that are tributary to it, more wages paid, more money invested in homes, increased bank accounts and better buying.

When the railroads are prosperous, many other lines of endeavor feel the effect of progress. Rail equipment plants are the barometers of business conditions generally. They are just now on a rising tide.

RAILROAD FOR SALE

FEDERAL Judge John M. Killitts is not only a keen jurist, but he apparently has a well developed idea of business sense. He has had a part to play in the question of whether the receiver of the I. C. & E. electric railway system should be permitted to abandon service on the Lima-Defiance division or whether indefinite continuance of car schedules should be maintained.

The federal court reversed the order of the state utilities commission directing that service on the line be discontinued December 31, in the face of the complaint by the receiver J. H. McClure, apparently backed by facts, that the rail line is and has been operated at a loss. Patrons, including passengers and shippers of freight and express, have attempted to show that instead of being a losing proposition, the line has been a money maker.

Reversal of the utilities body order by the high court was probably won on that point of contention. Now Judge Killitts proposes to afford the patrons an opportunity to take over the property and operate it, since the receiver is convinced that it ought to be abandoned. Judge Killitts will demand in event such a solution of the traffic difficulty can be arrived at, that the property be disposed of at a junk price, or a sum equal to the scrap value, plus the burden upon the receivership in continuing operation until further action can be had, one way or another.

The line is for sale, quite likely. The question is, does anybody desire to buy it?

COMING CLEAN

Here's a Brooklyn counselor at law on the stand.

"My dear doctor,

"I have rejoiced in your laudation: . . . specially pleased by the thought of aged folks turning somersaults night and morning, their grey hair streaming in the wind, coming up goosy but still strong for Brady.

"I have rejoiced in your determination not to give symptoms, but at last you have laid yourself open . . . your attitude on the subject of washing. You say that water is not necessary, but that sunshine will remove sweat and dirt. Well, all right . . . if you can fix the police I will try it. . . if I take a sun bath after wrestling with the garden I will become an animated mud pie.

What about my appearance after having been under the car oiling it in 42 places with three kinds of grease? Suppose that after a sun or air bath in that condition somebody threw a match on me. The pillar of fire and the ancient Christmas burning in the coliseum would not be in it with me.

Soapfully yours,

Possibly you saw Luther Burbank turning 'em forward and backward, in the movies, on the occasion of his seventy-third birthday recently. It takes a young 'un to turn somersaults.

I have never suggested that soap and water are not necessary. I have merely deplored the fact that civilized life exposes us to more or less grime and a certain amount of soap and water to remove the grime is a necessary evil. All of us who wear clothes, which interfere with the natural cleansing effect of the air, should apply water and sometimes soap every day to those areas of skin where the air gets no chance owing to the contact of opposing surfaces. For the rest of the body, as a general rule, a 15 minute air bath, and if you like a rub with a rough towel, is much better. Very few squeamishly "clean" persons indeed are logical enough in their squeamishness to carry the daily or weekly body wash to the scalp, and I am bold enough to say that the rest of the body (except the unventilated surfaces mentioned) demands washing with water no more frequently than does the scalp.

Don't compare civilized man with the savage. Primitive man is or was cleaner by far, physically and morally, than civilized man with all his bathing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Will undiluted hydrogen peroxide, poured into the ear once each week prevent the accumulation of hardened wax? Will it do so harm? As peroxide is a strong oxidizing agent, it may be used in the ear, but it is not a good idea to use it in the ear. A few drops of glycerin and water (equal parts) will do the trick. A doctor's advice as to it will dissolve, will soften and wash out the wax.

Not Bad Psychology

I want to tell you a psychology story. The father said that his five-year-old son, an excellent pupil of preschool, had a habit of crying when he was angry. I did not know what to do with it. I told him to cry. Today someone told me it was a hardening of the arteries.

THE MILKMAN

The milkman, so at least it's said,
Is truly an important person,
And therefore he's a man I'm led
To write this verse on.

He brings the milk for woman, man,
And for the baby.

He does his duty, it's affirmed,
With application almost fervent,
And therefore should be duly termed
A faithful servant.

He loves his children and his wife
(Or so I hear). I do not doubt it;
Therefore, to help him on in life
I'll write about it!

The milkman's character is fine
(I'm told), but dawn's dim shadows screen him.

Since I arise at half-past nine,
I've never seen him!

Susie Smart's Advice

Y Our Miss Smart: I received so many similar letters, I suppose you are tired of them, but please answer mine. I am a girl of 20 years and have been going to different places with a boy the same age as myself. I do not care for him now and have reason to know that he likes me. For a while I was tired of him. Now since I have changed my mind, I think I should tell you what to do.

M Y dear little girl, you are much too young to be deeply concerned in one particular boy. Your mother certainly has not displayed very wise judgment nor discretion in permitting you to accept so many invitations from one boy.

It is perfectly all right for you to have friends and pals among the boys, but do not think of them in terms of "hearts."

Be pleasant and friendly to this particular boy friend of yours but do not think of showing him any more attention nor interest than you do any of your other friends.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) I am a young girl of 20 years. Recently I met a man of 23, whom I care for very much. Do you think there is too great a difference in our ages? (2) As I reside on a farm and do considerable work, my hands need considerable care. Can you suggest something? (3) How is my writing? "THANK YOU."

(1) I think not. The depth and sincerity of the love should be considered before the difference in the ages. Of course, when there is a difference of 15 or 20 years in the ages of a betrothed couple, the question arises as to the inadvisability of such a union. However, I do not think that the difference in ages, which exists between you and this young man whom you admire, should be sufficient to cause any dissension were you to marry. (2) An excellent lotion for the hands is made of glycerine, rose water and lemon juice. Any druggist will mix the glycerine and rose water for you in correct proportions and a little strained lemon juice may be added at home. (3) Your writing is fair. It could be improved upon considerably with a little practice.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) Do you think school girls will still wear bobbed hair in spite of the styles? I have my hair bobbed and it is more becoming than it was. Should I leave it so or let it grow out? (2) I am 16. Do you think I am too young to go with the boys occasionally? (3) What do the following names mean: (a) Miriam, (b) Helen, (c) Joseph, (d) Phoebe, (e) Ann I too young to think of writing for a magazine? I have some talent for writing.

(1) I think it very sensible for school girls to continue to wear their hair bobbed. The majority of girls find bobbed hair not only more becoming but more convenient and comfortable. (2) Providing your mother approves, it would be proper for you to accept an occasional invitation from your boy friends. (3) (a) Rebellion, (b) light, (c) she is never too young to formulate plans for the undertaking of some thing really elevating and worth while. Do not become discouraged if your first stories fail to meet with the publisher's approval and are rejected. It is only by striving and profiting by our mistakes that we finally succeed.

SVELTE FORM ACCENTUATED IN THIS WRAP

Diana Dalziel one of the New York younger social set's prominent members, is the wearer of this gorgeous and unusually lovely wrap.

Of brocade velvet, fur-trimmed and with gold cords, the garment makes an ideal accompaniment to the black velvet gown beneath.

It's peculiar cut emphasizes the owner's slenderness and its rich colors set off her dark beauty.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Eunice Parmenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Parmenter to Leslie Reid, New York, of this city, was made at a handsome 5 o'clock tea given Wednesday at the Elks' Home, when Mrs. J. E. Galvin received a number of guests in compliment to Miss Gertrude Cleaver, Everett, Wash., guest of Miss Parmenter.

The table was gorgeous in its appointments. A fountain, with varicolored lights, placed upon a mound of roses and smilax arranged against a background of moss and ferns, formed the centerpiece. Violenettes, monardella, ranunculus and blue ribbons adorned either end of the table while rose colored cathedral candles tied with blue tulle gave a pretty effect.

Tiny blue envelopes concealed in dainty corsages of roses, narcissus and smilax, tied with blue ribbon and marking each cover, contained the names of the guests. The blue ribbon was extended from the corsages to the center of the table and the nut cups were paper mache roses.

Place cards in the form of rosebuds bore the following names: Misses Kathryn Schaefer, Janet White, Betty Laughlin, Helen Hunter, Hope Hollister, Elizabeth Clark, Florence Price, Gertrude Boose, Magdalen Stotzenbach, Helen Basinger, Gail and Ruth Parmenter, Violet Bradley, Mildred Cull, Dorothy Kahle, Mary Kathryn Roby, Margaret Graham, Margaret Cooper, Columbus; Margaret Gregg, Josephine Garretson, Jane Bentley, Mrs. George Macdonnell, Mrs. Glenn Woodruff, Mrs. Carl H. Neville, Mrs. James Sparks, Danville, Ill., Mrs. E. R. Curtin, Jr., Mrs. Walter Wright, Springfield, and Mrs. Donald McHaffey.

The betrothed families are members of prominent families of Lima and the announcement of their engagement comes as a delightful surprise to their many friends. The bridegroom-elect is an attorney in New York at the present time. The wedding will probably be an event of the late summer.

Robert Maginn will leave Thursday for Collegeville, Ind., to resume his studies after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maginn, Price-av.

Lima Man Says The Plant Juice Has Relieved His Health Trouble

HE HAS GAINED 13 POUNDS

Day after day, citizens of Lima and vicinity continue to come forward with signed testimonials telling of the relief they have derived thru the use of this new herbal remedy, Plant Juice, that is now being introduced and explained to the local public by The Plant Juice Man at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima.

Just recently, Mr. J. M. Thompson, of 715 East Market street, Lima, a well known resident of this city, called on The Plant Juice Man and said:

"I am the third person in my family who has been relieved of health trouble by taking your Plant Juice," said Mr. Thompson. "Your medicine does more than is claimed and I am glad to recommend it to the public."

"The truth is that my folks never expected to see me looking and feeling as well as I do today because I was down in bed when I started taking your Plant Juice. I could not eat without awful bloating spells afterward; was weak and run down—strength all gone and I could not sleep right. When I was able to get up, my joints would be so sore and stiff that I couldn't even get my clothes on by myself."

"This was eight weeks ago. Today, since I have taken your Plant Juice, I am in fine condition. I can eat without bloating, sleep fine and have gained 13 pounds. I am able now to put my clothes on without assistance because I do not have the least soreness. I can't say enough for your Plant Juice after what it did for me."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne street and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office—Adv.

SECTIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE MEETING CALLED

(By MERRICK M. HILL)

The first step toward making the proposed sectional baseball league a reality has been taken.

After several months of letter writing and telephoning between managers of diamond teams in this section of Ohio surrounding Lima, "Happy" Vosler, manager of the Wapakoneta Reds, issued invitations Thursday morning to 11 cities to attend a meeting in Wapakoneta January 11.

While sentiment among the majority of managers seems to be for an eight or ten-team league, the following teams have been invited to attend, Findlay, Ottawa, Van Wert, Delphos, Lima, Wapakoneta, Celina, St. Marys, Troy, Piqua and Sidney.

It is not expected that all of these teams will view the idea favorably, when it is formally presented and for that reason, Vosler decided to ask several extra teams.

Ottawa was thought to be very favorable to the scheme, while Findlay is doubtful. Van Wert is expected to be one of the boosters in the new organization. Delphos, however, has been having managerial difficulties and a shakeup of things in general. Although the heads of the club last year were known to like the league idea, the attitude now is a mystery.

Bernie Halloran, manager of the

Lima Independents, is strong for the league as is Vosler, of Wapak. St. Marys has a new park and the league would make a hit there, while Celina may be without a ball park, it is said. Sidney will join the league, but the attitude of Troy and Piqua has not been ascertained.

The managers of several of the teams in the proposed league have been feeling out public opinion since the close of the 1922 season, and there seems to be no doubt that interest in the national pastime would be increased by the regular schedule.

Outside of preliminary talk and the call for the first meeting, no action has been taken. However, indications point to the fact that a 24-week schedule will be arranged, in event, present plans carry to completion, and in all likelihood two games a week will be played.

In addition to the schedule, the league would contain salary agreements, and, according to several managers, would raise the standard of the game in this section of the state.

BIG GAME ON CARD

The biggest attraction on local basketball schedules for the present season is set for Friday night, at which time St. Rose will stack up against Central for the first time.

The Catholic institution does not play football and has never established close relations with Central of South until the present year.

The Rosarian outfit is strong and they feel confident of winning the first engagement. Central is just as confident that the newcomers in the Ohio Athletic association, will be sent down to defeat.

With this feeling existing in the minds of both teams, just one result can be expected. The game will be fast, furious, thrilling and intensely interesting.

The style of play used by the two teams is entirely different and will add considerable to the battle. Central will use the short pass game, with a definitely worked out set of plays and formations which have been produced of points.

St. Rose possesses two well-trained accurate forwards and the only St. Rose is to put the ball into the hands of either of the forwards in shooting distance. This has developed accuracy in long passing and in dribbling.

J. C. Foutkes, of Vaughnsville is to referee.

A cheering battle will also take place during the game. Both schools have been holding mass meetings and have been practicing well. The prelin will be between Central and St. Rose second stringers.

PIRATES' STAR CATCHER IS ON THE MARKET

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Walter Schmidt, first-string catcher of the Pittsburgh team, is on the market. Any club that will give Barney Dreyfus a reasonable return for his star catcher can have him.

Schmidt seems to have brought about his own undoing on the Pirates. Last spring, inability to get along with Manager Gibson, then in charge of the Pirates, caused Schmidt to refuse to report. The trouble, it seems, started over the salary question.

When Gibson retired, and was succeeded by Bill McKenchie, the first thing the new manager did was fix things up with Schmidt, and he finished out the season.

Failure of Schmidt to report in the spring forced Pittsburgh to use young catchers. Given the opportunity to work regularly, both McKenchie, Good and Mattox, made good.

Evidently Bill McKenchie is satisfied the club can get along without Schmidt and profit thereby, for he has been placed on the market. Schmidt is a great backstop. It was noticed by that he would be immediately grabbed up by some club, but as yet nothing doing. This has come as a surprise to Dreyfus and probably an even greater one to Schmidt.

New Year To See Four Big Ring Battles In Open Air

NEW YORK.—Since all the big new money flows now in the open air, very little activity with the exception of ordinary routine, is to be expected until next summer.

Four major bouts that may be contested next summer are too big for any indoor arenas and they are probably the best in store for the fans if they can be arranged.

No better entertainment could be wanted than action between: Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tunney, Jimmy Wilde and Pancho Villa, Patting the South American giant Piro in the line, ahead of Harry Wells, for a crack at Jack Dempsey's heavyweight championship, is bound to be expected.

It may be done, though, because public opinion, as represented in State officials, has not been worked up to leave the danger of the reaction from a mixed heavyweight championship.

It may be done also because since several bad showings in recent months the impression is spreading that Wells has gone back so far that he would be no match for the young champion.

You can put it in your hat and remember it that Dempsey is not afraid of Wells. Dempsey doesn't pick his opponents. The promoters do that and they do it only after feeling the pulse of the public.

Tex Rickard says he doubts that Dempsey and Wells ever will meet, but that he will stage a Dempsey-Piro fight if the South American wins the winner of the Johnson-Brennan bout.

Gene Tunney seems to be the only one that Tommy Gibbons can get for a fight and it is doubtful if the former American light heavyweight champion ever agrees to meet him.

Gibbons, in the honest opinion of many was followers of the ring, would make as good an opponent for Dempsey as there is on the market now, but his inferior size would be a handicap in the drawing power of the card.

Brennan, Greb and all the other "leading contenders" refuse to consider the name of Gibbons and Tunney to go around the country tap-ping second raters on the chin and getting criticized for it.

If Floyd Johnson whips Bill Brennan he should be allowed to talk of another match until he meets Gibbons.

Honny Leonard is talking again of the never dying hatred that he bears against Law Tendlar, the Philadelphia southpaw.

That can mean but one thing, if the signs were up on the bill boards, it could be no more proof that another Leonard-Tendlar fight is in the steam room.

He is in a bad way financially. He dropped a pile of coin trying to

JOINT MEETING SATURDAY

NEW YORK.—The joint meeting of the National and American League schedule committees, for the purpose of arranging details of the 1923 campaign will be held next Saturday at Atlantic City, N. J., it was announced Wednesday by John A. Heydler, president of the National League.

The senior organization will be represented by Heydler and Barney Dreyfus, president of the Pittsburgh club and the American League by President Ban Johnson and the latter's secretary, William Harbridge.

Principal among problems confronting the meeting will be adjustment of the opening dates, which were fixed at the recent annual meetings in New York for Tuesday April 17 by the National League and for April 18 by the American League.

Another problem facing the schedule makers is the situation in New York where with the Yankees and Giants in separate parks for the first time in years, conflict in Sunday and holiday dates is in prospect.

RAY RETAINS STANDING

NEW YORK.—Joe Ray, who has more or less of an iron-bound option on the national one-mile title, has not only saved his own amateur high, but has retained great service to the entire athletic world by coming thru at the last minute with the $100 which the A. A. U. claimed he had received over and above his regular expenses to an eastern meet last year.

Joe was probably under the impression that the A. A. U. was only having the little joke and his 11th hour action was most likely inspired by some hard headed advice from a friend and well-wisher. There is not much doubt but that a failure to pay would have resulted to the foreword of the marvelous little runner, so sport lovers in general heaved a big sigh of relief to learn that Leonard had made the money.

All the dough he needs for a while forthcoming from a bout with Chandler—FIFTEEN rounds to a DECISION.

The public hardly will stand for anything else.

Charley White is yelping about a chance for the title, but he never will win the championship from Leonard.

If White could be made to forget that it was Leonard he was fighting, he might have a chance. Jack McAuliffe says, "Until then, never."

For the little fellows, there is only one real road and that in all probability will be made between Jimmy Wilde, the world's flyweight champion, and Pancho Villa, the American champion.

If the little Welshman didn't have so much age on him and hadn't been out of the ring for so long, it would be a toss up, but it looks much like Villa from a distance.

Have Driscoll, the Brooklyn promoter, has the contract for a bout and it will be fought in this country.

"Convention" System Of Giving Signals Is Discussed

NEW YORK.—There seems to be a rather wide difference of opinion among the football coaches of the country, concerning the "convention" system of giving signals before the play starts.

This was brought out at the recent meeting of the Football Coaches' association where the makers of the sport from all parts of the country had an opportunity to discuss just such points.

The "convention" system consists in gathering of the players behind the line of scrimmage before each formation, in which they form a tight group with their heads together and the quarterback gives the signals. Such a practice is claimed by some to hold up the game while other coaches claim that it speeds things up. It would seem to depend upon how the players were coached and whether the "convention" was used as a ploy or merely to give signals.

Stanley Cavanaugh of Boston College and Robert Zuppke of Illinois took opposite sides of the question at the meeting. Cavanaugh claimed that in his experience of watching games where the "ring around the rose" system was used, a great deal of time was wasted and the spectators became impatient. Zuppke asserted on the other hand that he had timed this system as well as the old one and had found that by actual seconds the "convention" was a time saver.

Fielding Yost, of Michigan, who is one of the staunch backers of the new idea, became good naturedly indignant as he arose to the defense of one of his pet theories.

Yost, too, it seemed, had held the stop watch on the plays and pieced together with many convincing gestures of arms and legs to explain and demonstrate why he was right.

He claimed much more time was lost by a team which called the signals on the line of scrimmage because of the fact that the signals quite often had to be repeated and that after they were called the players then had to shift to positions called for in the signals.

In this system, he explained that his players after receiving the signals "flushed like a covey or quails to their places, thereby eliminating a shift which would give the other team an opportunity to shift also in preparation for the defense."

Spencer high school quinet will be the next cage team to attempt sidetracking the record of Delphos St. John's. The five class Friday night in Delphos for the first time this season. The following Friday Delphos will go to Spencerville.

It will be the first game for Delphos in the 1923 portion of the season and the St. John's cagers expect to stretch their consecutive winning streak to nine. They have already copied eight in a row and have won nine out of ten.

Delphos fans will have their first opportunity of seeing their team perform since December 26, when St. John's laced Delphos 36 to 5.

The quinet is eagerly awaiting the Spencerville fray.

Grover Hill threatens to be a formidable foe for Delphos Tuesday night. That high school team comes from a small town, but one that has established a reputation in high school cage circles and in tournaments.

Colleges of Southern California College Conference are among those admitted to National Collegiate Association at its present annual session in New York.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

I have seen a number of pitchers work creditable games in their first start as major leaguers.

I have seen a great many more "fiver" badly their first time out in the big show. The odds are always against the recruit.

Therefore it is a rather easy matter for me to pick out the greatest same I ever saw a recruit pitcher work in the majors.

That honor goes to Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox, who in the spring of 1922, shut out the Detroit club without a hit. More remarkable still, not a batsman reached first base.

A number of things tended to make this performance no the part of Robertson all the more remarkable.

In the first place, it was made against a team generally regarded as one of the hardest hitting aggregations in the history of the sport. Last season the Detroit club led the American League teams in batting by a comfortable margin.

In the second place, the feat was performed under rather annoying conditions, that might have sent a less game youngster into the air.

In the first four innings, the Tigers hit a half dozen balls hard, but directly as some fielder. Then the Tigers began to complain that Robertson was torturing the ball.

During the last five innings the game was constantly delayed because of the objections of the De-

Robertson's fast ball was acting. They also claimed that Robertson was using some foreign substance to discolor the ball.

ELEANOR BOARDMAN'S RISE TO FILM FAME

(By Esther Wagner)

ELEANOR BOARDMAN makes her first public film appearance in Marshall Neilan's "The Stranger's Banquet." Here is a remarkable rise to fame.

She was selected by Goldwyn's casting director less than a year ago in a competition against many others. She was given a small part in Rupert Hughes' "Gimme."

The part assigned to her in "The Stranger's Banquet" was originally an insignificant one but she built it into one of considerable proportion.

Arriving at the studio before other members of the cast she would rehearse her part and suggest little variations in it that met the fancy of Neilan.

Having thus attracted attention to herself, Hugo Ballin gave her a prominent part in "Vanity Fair."

Then Hughes cast her for "Souls for Sale" and assigned her to the featured role, altho such popular and experienced actresses as Barbara La Marr and Mae Busch are in the cast.

Publicity may have helped Miss Boardman considerably, too. Perhaps you remember the widely circulated reports of her engagement to Charlie Chaplin and the more recent reports of her being bitten by a wild camel roaming the great deserts of California.

Return of Popular Company Announced

MANAGER SHAW of the New Orpheum theatre announces that he has been successful in securing a return date of the Bert Smith Ragtime Wonders, who played an engagement in this city earlier in the season.

It will be remembered that the Bert Smith Co., has a cast of headliners unsurpassed for a company of this kind. Al Schaffer, Sue Hale, Arlene Melvin, Billy Malone, Dick Butler, Joe Marion, are well known stars in vaudeville and as these clever artists are under an iron bound contract they cannot enter vaudeville for the next three years to come.

The Three Harmony Boys, and 25 others make the Smith aggregation a proposition hard to beat in the way of entertainment. Mr. Smith carries a carload of scenery to give his various shows the proper stage settings and electric effects. This opening bill is announced by Manager Shaw will be "Stop Thief," a big New York musical hit and will be given its first road presentation in Lima by this clever company.

SUCCESS WON IN TRADE STORM

Andrew Carnegie's Career Is Thus Described By Forbes

RESULT OF RESOLUTION

Writer Points Out Victories Sored Thru Determination

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK, (Special)—At the start of the year, suppose we charge our minds with thoughts not of resolutions, but of resolution.

Resolution is one of the most important elements entering into success.

Resolution is a solution in which most difficulties melt away.

Or, resolution may be likened to electric current of unmeasured potentiality and power.

Or, it may be likened unto wings capable of carrying one to the heights of success.

Success usually consists of overcoming obstacles.

To overcome many obstacles of magnitude calls for real resolution, for determination, for grit, for guts. Failure is giving up.

No man is a failure so long as he keeps on trying courageously.

Edgar L. Marston, the New York financier, who now spends most of his time in California, once said to me:

"The difference between making a success of a thing and reaping only failures often is very slight. I think we make too much of the man who succeeds and very often do not give enough credit to the fellow who justly fails to succeed."

This difference often lies in the lack of enough resolution to keep carrying on.

It was sheer resolution—determination—that raised Andrew Carnegie to the top of the steel industry. In times of panic other steel men lost courage and eagerly transferred their troubles and their holdings to the intrepid Little Steelman. He laid the foundations of his fortune, not when the sun of prosperity was shining, but when financial and industrial storms were raging.

In its early days the oil industry was plagued by fires, explosions and other disasters. Operator after operator lost all over night. John D. Rockefeller once told me: "For years I never knew when I would awaken in the morning to be told we had lost most of what we possessed. Others gladly sold out. We went on a different track, we sought to diversify our interests, to acquire properties and construct plants at different points. In this way we spread our risks, so that we couldn't be ruined by disaster over us at any one point."

The operating of oil properties, oil refineries, oil plants is today relatively safe, but it took resolution to go deeper and deeper into the business in the early days when the hazards were infinitely greater.

Schwab told me that for years he had to endorse personally every note issued by Bethlehem Steel to raise urgently-needed funds. Also, Schwab once spent something like $10,000,000 on a patent or process which had been turned down by all the leading steel companies. This money, too, he lost, but his profitable returns could be earned.

Another instance of resolution, was it not?

Henry C. Frick, who left about $125,000,000 owed his rise to resolution. He had just begun to lay out his few thousand dollars in coke properties at Connellsville, when the panic of 1873 swept the United States like a hurricane. Frick's associates lost courage completely. It cost a dollar more per ton to make coke than coke could be sold for. Frick, however, didn't show the white feather. Instead he hid himself to Pittsburgh and also he hid his mighty little collateral, he induced the father of the present Secretary of the Treasury to lend him $1,000,000, and this large sum Frick utilized in buying up the interests of his own associates and other properties of importance, so anxious was everyone to turn turtle and run away. Within a few years Frick was making clear profits of more than a million dollars a year.

The present House of Morgan and Company was founded in this way: The French government was in desperate straits for funds, but no banker had enough courage or vision to come to its rescue—no banker except Junius Spencer Morgan, grandfather of the present J. P. Morgan, and at that time, a little-known banker in London. And then on Morgan became a power in the financial world. To this day the French government and the house of Morgan have extremely close connections.

Such men as James J. Hill, Edward H. Harriman, Thomas A. Edison, John H. Patterson, George Eastman, Robert Dollar, E. A. Stuart, Henry Ford, George Westinghouse, C. A. Coffin, Samuel Insull, James B. Duke, the original Cyrus H. McCormick, William H. Nichols, Cyrus H. K. Curtis—these and hosts of others have won out, not because they encountered fewer difficulties than the rest of us, but because they possessed and exercised more resolution than most of us.

It is easy enough to form new year resolutions.

It is not so easy to summon up sufficient resolution to wrestle uncompromisingly with momentous and momentous difficulties all through the year.

But without resolution there can be no monumental results.

Therefore, cultivate, cling to and practice resolution.

TREND OF STOCKS IS UPWARD

Strong Buying Movement Brings About Boost.

NEW YORK—Speculative industrial stocks showed a strong tendency at the opening of the market. The locomotive shares and the smaller steel shares were easier while United States Steel and Standard Oil of New Jersey showed weak tendencies. Some of the copper, public utilities and speculative railroad issues exhibited strength.

Associated Oil advanced two points while United States Steel preferred and International Paper gained 5-8 over yesterday's closing. Advances of a point or more were made by Columbia Gas and Electric, Republic Steel and California Petroleum. Pressed Steel Car was weak, falling off four points while Canadian Pacific, American Tobacco, New York Central and Kaiser declined fractionally. Foreign exchange rates were all easier, sterling declining about quarter of a cent.

The early hesitation and irregularity of the market was succeeded at midday by a definite trend upward, all the speculative selling continued for a time in local public utilities, tobacco, Chandler Motor, Stewart Warner, Speedometer and American Smelting. The general trend of the market was strongly upward. There was a heavy accumulation of the steel, equipment and can shares which gave strength to the balance of the list. The buying included a number of industrial and specialties. Pressed Steel Car regained three points of its early four point decline on announcement of a new financing program. United States Steel touched 126 and advanced 2 1/2 to 131-3/4 points were made by Pullman, Columbia Gas and Electric, Republic Steel, Louisville and Nashville, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Realty and American Radiator. Call money opened and recovered at 4 per cent.

WHEAT PRICES ON DOWNGRADE

Threatened Reparations Parley Break Affects Market.

CHICAGO—Prospects that the diplomatic conference at Paris would be dissolved within 24 hours had a bearish effect on the wheat market today during the early dealings. Hedges with eastern connections were rather free sellers, and there was a lack of important buying. Assertions that farm credit bills would be reported to the senate by Saturday failed to stimulate demand. The opening, which ranged from 1-8 to 1c lower with May $1.19 1-2 to 1.20, and July $1.11 1-2 to 1.11 3-4 was followed by material further declines.

Corn and oats eased down with wheat, notwithstanding decreased arrivals of corn here. After opening 1-4 off to a like advance, May 71 1-8 to 71 3-8, the corn market scored a slight general upturn and then underwent a moderate setback all around. Oats started 1-8 to 3-8 higher, May 44 1-8 to 44 1-4 and later showed losses on all months. Provisions were weak in line with hog values.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Harry L. Pew 1966 W. Elm st. relates that two little boys were playing with a kitten and the mother of one of them thought they had dropped it into an empty tin barrel.

She called her husband, who flipped the barrel over. "Gosh," while the two children watched him with vast interest. Finally he called to his little son "Did the kitten get out?"

The child said "No. It's in the garage and we haven't opened the door yet."

City Auditor Ryan O. Sellers was attending a social event. Among the other guests was a woman with her little daughter. Sellers overheard the little girl say to her mother, "My petticoat is coming down. My petticoat is coming down. My petticoat is coming down. My petticoat is coming down."

A little later the child began fidgeting again. Asked what was the matter, she said "My imagination is coming down."

Former Sheriff Charles J. Lister was standing in the corridor of the courthouse when a woman he never saw before, but who must have thought he looked honest, handed him $6.

Then she placed a card in his hand and said, "Will you pay my taxes? This is my name on the card. I can't wait."

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory business. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."

—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.
